Subject: Info for chronology

Jennifer Hubbard, our rep on the national workgroup which manages the Regional Screening Level (RSL) table, left me a vm message with the following information regarding the posting of information relating to the contaminants referenced in EPA's recent actions in Dimock:

-- changes to the RSL table were prepared in November

-- changes were posted on line on 12/1/2011

-- if one were to go into the system now, some pages show updates as of 12/6 and 12/22/2012. These were not substantive changes but merely cosmetic changes and did not change the fundamental toxicological information. Some additions to the metadata were also made during December.
